

Speaking At The European eLearning Summit

Posted At : August 18, 2008 5:10 PM | Posted By : Stefan Richter

Related Categories: Events, Collaboration

Finally a conference on my doorstep! Tomorrow afternoon I will be hosting a session on 'Collaboration with Flash Media Server' at the European eLearning Summit in Nottingham. I am hoping to show lots of examples and allow the audience to join in - may the WIFI be with us.

Later this year (but not much later actually...) I will present a similar session at Flash on the Beach, the main difference being that the session in Brighton will have a bit more of a focus on code as well as a some inspirational pieces.

If you attend either one of the conference then please find me and say hi.