

Influxis adds Flash Media Server 2 hosting to its offering

Posted At : January 19, 2006 11:00 AM | Posted By : Stefan Richter

Related Categories: Hosting

Influxis are now able to offer Flash Media Server hosting to their existing and new customers. The company has also revamped their customer portal and added many new features, making application setup even easier than before. Real time bandwidth reports, instant account activation and a neat stream previewer are just some of the features available. I am hosting several applications at Influxis and have only got good things to say about them. Even when we needed features that were a little bit out of the ordinary they accommodated our wishes and couldn't do enough to help.

Visit Influxis.com