This week is hosting news week it seems. First up is Influxis who are now able to offer FMS4 Enterprise hosting. Their new packages are aimed at large scale delivery and deployments which leverage the full FMS4 Enterprise feature set, including P2P connections over RTMFP.

As an introductory offer Influxis is also giving you the chance to lock in some special pricing for the whole year, but you must act quickly as these prices are only available until Friday, Dec 17th 2010. These prices will not come along again after that date so make sure you lock into a great deal now.

You can find the full press release here.
